Dedication

This book is dedicated to the memory of our mother, Elizabeth, whose gentle hands turned the pages of countless word search books and whose faithful heart never stopped seeking.

*In her later years, words became harder to hold onto,
but her love for Scripture, and the God who authored it, never wavered.*

*She deserved books worthy of her faith.
This one is for her, and for every soul like hers.*

Gone from our sight in 2023, but never from our hearts.

*"I am the resurrection and the life.
Whoever believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live."
-- John 11:25*

How to Use This Book

Welcome

This devotional draws you deeper into Scripture through focused, meditative puzzle-solving. Each numbered pair of puzzles is built from the same Bible passage, approached from two angles.

Verse Puzzles

Words are drawn directly from a specific Bible verse. As you search, let each word anchor you to the passage. The full verse is printed below the grid, with hidden words highlighted.

Reflection Puzzles

Words are drawn from a devotional reflection on the same verse. These puzzles invite you to think more deeply about how the Scripture speaks to your life today.

Finding Words

Words may be hidden horizontally, vertically, or diagonally, and may run forwards or backwards. Circle or highlight each word as you find it.

Solutions

A Word of Encouragement

There is no rush. Take your time with each puzzle. Pray over the verse. Let the words sink in. This is not just a game. It is an invitation to spend unhurried time in the Word.

*“For God has not given us a spirit of fear,
but of power and of love and of a sound mind.”*

2 Timothy 1:7

Yahweh, how my adversaries have increased! Many are those who rise up against me. Many there are who say of my soul, "There is no help for him in God." Selah. But you, Yahweh, are a shield around me, my glory, and the one who lifts up my head. I cry to Yahweh with my voice, and he answers me out of his holy hill. Selah. I laid myself down and slept. I awakened; for Yahweh sustains me. I will not be afraid of tens of thousands of people who have set themselves against me on every side.

Reflection for Psalms 3:1-6: There are moments in life when it feels like negative circumstances, and troubles multiply faster than one can recover from them. At times, we also have opposing lips that add to our current turmoil. This can cause our souls to stumble with fear and darken our hope. In this Psalm, David begins a song of praise. He confesses his fear, but that is not the final word. He continues to praise God, for the shield he is, for lifting up his head, for knowing that he answers in time of need. "I laid myself down and slept, "meaning I trust in you, God! When you know that God is the one holding you up, the rest becomes possible-Praise HIM!

A horse is a vain thing for safety, neither does he deliver any by his great power. Behold, Yahweh's eye is on those who fear him, on those who hope in his loving kindness; to deliver their soul from death, to keep them alive in famine. Our soul has waited for Yahweh. He is our help and our shield. For our heart rejoices in him, because we have trusted in his holy name. Let your loving kindness be on us, Yahweh, since we have hoped in you.

Reflection for Psalm 33:17-22: Back then, a horse was cutting-edge security—military power, speed, status, the best “plan A” you could buy. This verse encourages us to stop treating human strength as our salvation and to start treating God’s faithful love as our anchor. “Behold, Yahweh’s eye is on those who fear him, on those who hope in his loving kindness.” Hope here is not wishful thinking; it’s choosing to lean on God’s covenant love. Waiting is hard because it feels passive, but biblically, waiting is active trust—refusing to grab control in panic. Saying “God is my shield” means trouble won’t get the final say!

He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of Yahweh, "He is my refuge and my fortress; my God, in whom I trust." For he will deliver you from the snare of the fowler, and from the deadly pestilence. He will cover you with his feathers. Under his wings you will take refuge. His faithfulness is your shield and rampart. You shall not be afraid of the terror by night, nor of the arrow that flies by day; nor of the pestilence that walks in darkness, nor of the destruction that wastes at noonday. A thousand may fall at your side, and ten thousand at your right hand; but it will not come near you.

Reflection for Psalm 91:1-7: “Dwells” isn’t a quick visit. It’s making God your home, for closeness. The promise is “rest,” not because life is suddenly harmless, but because you’re under a shadow that doesn’t move. God’s presence becomes the place your nervous system learns to breathe again. It is personal: “I will say of Yahweh, ‘He is my refuge ...my God, in whom I trust.’” That is a decision! A fortress is what you rely on when pressure hits. This is an invitation to name God out loud, because fear shrinks when trust is spoken and repeated. The psalm doesn’t pretend threats aren’t real—it names them. Night terrors, daytime attacks, disease, sudden disaster. The comfort here isn’t that these things don’t exist. The comfort is: fear doesn’t have to rule you.

Reflection for Psalm 91:9-12: The key is a relationship posture. “Refuge” is what you run to. “Dwelling place” is where you stay. The psalm describes a life oriented toward God, not one that remembers God only when danger spikes. God’s protection is real, and harm will never have the final word over those who are in Him. Even when we walk through danger, we do not walk without God, and nothing can ultimately separate us from His care. God commands His angels to guard you, to keep you in all your ways, to bear you up so you won’t even strike your foot against a stone. That’s a picture of detailed care. It’s a reminder that God cares about every aspect of your life.

Reflection for Psalm 91: Jesus, here on earth, taught us to pray by starting with a praise to God. "Our father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name". David begins his prayer by praising God, calling him God Almighty (El Shadday), all-sufficient, all-powerful, eternally capable of being all that his people need. God receives David's praises and he can't contain himself and starts answering David, saying, "Because he has set his love on me, therefore I will deliver him. As the deer pants for the water brooks, so my soul pants after you, God. My soul thirsts for God, for the living God. When shall I come and appear before God? My tears have been my food day and night, while they continually ask me, "Where is your God?" These things I remember, and pour out my soul within me, how I used to go with the crowd, and led them to the house of God, with the voice of joy and praise, a multitude keeping a holy day. Why are you in despair, my soul? Why are you disturbed within me? Hope in God! For I shall still praise him for the saving help of his presence.

Reflection for Psalm 42:1-5: This is a desperate call on God. Like a deer that will literally die without water, the psalmist feels they cannot spiritually survive without God's presence. This isn't casual faith; it's need-based. There is internal pain with sadness, loneliness, maybe even depression. There is also outside pressure as people question whether God has abandoned them. They think back to when faith was joyful—worship, community, celebration. The psalmist talks to themselves, not God, for a moment. It's a chosen hope in the middle of a struggle, preaching hope to your own soul.

Reflection for Psalm 42:7-11: What stands out most is the honesty. The psalmist accuses God of forgetting them. They admit how deeply mockery hurts. They don't sanitize their emotions for the sake of sounding faithful. And still—this is crucial—they keep speaking to God, not away from Him. Even protest becomes a form of prayer. The psalmist talks to themselves the way a friend might—acknowledging the pain, but refusing to let despair have the final word. Hope here is not an emotion. It's a decision. Praise is not sparked by changed circumstances; it is promised in advance, as an act of trust.

In the shelter of your presence, you will hide them from the plotting of man. You will keep them secretly in a dwelling away from the strife of tongues. Praise be to Yahweh, for he has shown me his marvelous loving kindness in a strong city. Yahweh preserves the faithful, and fully recompenses him who behaves arrogantly. Be strong, and let your heart take courage, all you who hope in Yahweh. By David. A contemplative psalm.

Reflection for Psalm 31:20-24 The imagery is gentle but powerful. God hides His people “in the shelter of His presence.” This isn’t escape from reality; it’s protection within it. The threats are still real—slander, plots, hostile voices—but they lose their power when placed outside the boundary of God’s care. The psalm reminds us that safety is not always the absence of danger, but the assurance that danger does not have the final word. There’s also a shift from private relief to public gratitude. The psalmist pauses to bless the Lord—not because life has been perfect, but because God’s steadfast love proved real when it mattered most.

"Yahweh, show me my end, what is the measure of my days. Let me know how frail I am. Behold, you have made my days handbreadths. My lifetime is as nothing before you. Surely every man stands as a breath." Selah.

"Surely every man walks like a shadow. Surely they busy themselves in vain. He heaps up, and doesn't know who shall gather. Now, Lord, what do I wait for? My hope is in you.

Reflection for Psalm 39:4-7: The psalmist asks God to teach them to understand the brevity of their days. This isn't morbid curiosity or fear of death—it's a plea for clarity. They want perspective. In the rush of living, it's easy to act as though time is endless, as though today's worries or ambitions will last forever. These verses strip that illusion away. Life is described as a "mere breath," a fleeting vapor—real, meaningful, yet astonishingly brief. The awareness of life's shortness does not lead to despair—it redirects trust. Hope shifts from productivity, security, and legacy to God Himself.

For he has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he who built the house has more honor than the house. For every house is built by someone; but he who built all things is God. Moses indeed was faithful in all his house as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were afterward to be spoken, but Christ is faithful as a Son over his house; whose house we are, if we hold fast our confidence and the glorying of our hope firm to the end. Therefore, even as the Holy Spirit says, "Today if you will hear his voice, Reflection for Hebrews 3:3-7 Moses is honored, not diminished. He is described as faithful in God's house, a trusted servant who carried God's message to the people. But the author gently shifts the focus: faithfulness within the house is not the same as being the builder of the house. Moses belongs to God's story; Jesus stands at its center. The image of the house is quietly profound. A house doesn't exist by accident. It reflects intention, design, and purpose. By identifying Christ as the builder, we trust in the One who gives everything coherence and meaning. The house is not just Israel, the law, or even the church—it is us, held together by God's ongoing work.

But, beloved, we are persuaded of better things for you, and things that accompany salvation, even though we speak like this. For God is not unrighteous, so as to forget your work and the labor of love which you showed toward his name, in that you served the saints, and still do serve them. We desire that each one of you may show the same diligence to the fullness of hope, even to the end, that you won't be sluggish, but imitators of those who through faith and patience inherited the promises.

Reflection for Hebrews 10: 19-24: Starts with "boldness to enter into the holy place by the blood of Jesus." For the original audience, this language would have felt radical. What was once restricted, guarded, and distant is now open. Access to God is no longer mediated by fear or ritual precision, but by Christ Himself. This is active and ongoing, not a one-time opening, but a continually available path. Because that access is real, the invitation opens with "draw near". This is an invitation to closeness, not performance. Drawing near does not mean arriving polished. It means coming honestly, with a sincere heart. Faith here is relational before it is doctrinal.

Now faith is assurance of things hoped for, proof of things not seen. For by this, the elders obtained testimony. By faith, we understand that the universe has been framed by the word of God, so that what is seen has not been made out of things which are visible. By faith, Abel offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, through which he had testimony given to him that he was righteous, God testifying with respect to his gifts; and through it he, being dead, still speaks. By faith, Enoch was taken away, so that he wouldn't see death, and he was not found, because God translated him. For he has had testimony given to him that before his translation he had been well pleasing to God.

For the law works wrath, for where there is no law, neither is there disobedience. For this cause it is of faith, that it may be according to grace, to the end that the promise may be sure to all the seed, not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all. As it is written, "I have made you a father of many nations." This is in the presence of him whom he believed: God, who gives life to the dead, and calls the things that are not, as though they were. Who in hope believed against hope, to the end that he might become a father of many nations, according to that which had been spoken, "So will your seed be."

Reflection for Romans 4:15-18 Paul teaches us that the law exposes failure rather than cures it. Where rules exist, they inevitably reveal how often we fall short. If salvation depended on perfect obedience, hope would collapse under the weight of human weakness. Faith is not optimism. It is not a denial of reality. Abraham did not ignore the facts; he trusted God in spite of them. Biblical hope is not wishful thinking; it is confidence rooted in God's character, even when circumstances give no support. Prayer: God, help me trade pressure for trust. Teach me to believe You can bring life where I see none, and to rest and put my life in Your grace. In Jesus name, Amen!

Without being weakened in faith, he didn't consider his own body, already having been worn out, (he being about a hundred years old), and the deadness of Sarah's womb. Yet, looking to the promise of God, he didn't waver through unbelief, but grew strong through faith, giving glory to God, and being fully assured that what he had promised, he was also able to perform. Therefore it also was "reckoned to him for righteousness." Now it was not written that it was accounted to him for his sake alone, but for our sake also, to whom it will be accounted, who believe in him who raised Jesus, our Lord, from the dead, Reflection for Romans 4: 19-24: Dear Lord Jesus, strengthen us when our faith feels thin, when our bodies, situations, or timelines argue against Your promises. Keep us from fixing our eyes only on what is failing or fading, and turn our hearts instead toward Your power to bring life where there appears to be none. Thank You that righteousness is not earned by our effort, but credited through faith. I surrender to you. Thank You that this promise was written not only for Abraham, but for us; for all who trust in You, the God who raised Jesus from the dead.

Being therefore justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ; through whom we also have our access by faith into this grace in which we stand. We rejoice in hope of the glory of God. Not only this, but we also rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering works perseverance; and perseverance, proven character; and proven character, hope:

Reflection for Romans 5: 1-4 These verses begin by explaining that the tension between humanity and God, described earlier in Romans, is resolved not by effort or merit, but by faith in Christ. Paul then shifts from status to experience. We do not just possess peace; we “stand” in grace. The imagery suggests stability and belonging. Faith moves us from insecurity into a settled place. Grace becomes the environment in which we live—not an occasional gift, but a constant reality. There is movement in this passage. Peace leads to standing. Standing leads to endurance. Endurance forms character. Character deepens hope. Suffering is not celebrated for its pain but valued for what God produces through it. The process does not deny hardship; it reveals purpose within it.

The Spirit himself testifies with our spirit that we are children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ; if indeed we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him. For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which will be revealed toward us. For the creation waits with eager expectation for the children of God to be revealed. For the creation was subjected to vanity, not of its own will, but because of him who subjected it, in hope that the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of decay into the liberty of the glory of the children of God.

Reflection for Romans 8:16-21 invites us to live in between—the space between promise and fulfillment. We are already children, already heirs, yet not fully revealed. Suffering is real, but so is hope. Creation groans, but it groans toward renewal. The world longs to be liberated from decay and to share in the freedom of God’s children. Paul reminds us that brokenness is not the final chapter. The Spirit assures us of who we are now, even as all creation waits for what we will become. And in that waiting, we hold onto hope—not because the present is easy, but because the future is secure.

For we know that the whole creation groans and travails in pain together until now. Not only so, but ourselves also, who have the first fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for adoption, the redemption of our body. For we were saved in hope, but hope that is seen is not hope. For who hopes for that which he sees? But if we hope for that which we don't see, we wait for it with patience.

Reflection for Romans 8:22-25 In these verses Paul does not sugarcoat his current circumstances, and he mentions that labor is painful, life is painful. He continues to explain that even those who belong to God are still groaning within themselves. Having faith doesn't delete pain. It doesn't cancel uncertainty. Sometimes faith is just refusing to call despair "realism." Tools to use in this circumstance: Admit what's aching instead of pretending I'm above it. Groaning isn't failure—it's human. Let my waiting be active: pray, serve, keep showing up, keep loving people, keep choosing integrity. Treat hope like a discipline, not a mood—something I practice when my feelings refuse to cooperate.

Reflection for Romans 12: 7-14 Thank God for the one-of-a-kind gift He placed in you! Take time to discover who you are in Christ and step into God's plan for your life by developing the talents He's entrusted to you. Bless those who persecute you, bless and do not curse, this does not mean to pretend they didn't hurt you. It's refusing to let bitterness become your personality. Blessing is spiritual warfare against your own resentment. It says: I won't hand the steering wheel of my heart to someone else's wrongdoing. Do I use my gifts to be needed—or to build others? And when I'm wronged, do I "win" by cutting people down, or do I win by staying free inside?

and commanded them that they should not make him known; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying, "Behold, my servant whom I have chosen; my beloved in whom my soul is well pleased: I will put my Spirit on him. He will proclaim justice to the nations. He will not strive, nor shout; neither will anyone hear his voice in the streets. He won't break a bruised reed. Reflection for Mathew 12: 17-21: The image of not breaking a bruised reed or snuffing out a smoldering wick is especially powerful. It shows that Jesus is tender with those who are weak, worn down, and barely hanging on. When we feel spiritually exhausted, emotionally bruised, or unsure of our strength, Jesus does not discard us. He does not look at weakness with annoyance. He meets it with mercy. That should change the way we see Him. Too often people expect God to be quick to condemn, but this passage shows His patience and care. The hope in this passage is that Jesus will faithfully bring justice to victory, and the nations will put their hope in His name.

whom God raised up, having freed him from the agony of death, because it was not possible that he should be held by it. For David says concerning him, 'I saw the Lord always before my face, For he is on my right hand, that I should not be moved. Therefore my heart was glad, and my tongue rejoiced. Moreover my flesh also will dwell in hope; because you will not leave my soul in Hades, neither will you allow your Holy One to see decay. You made known to me the ways of life. You will make me full of gladness with your presence.'

Reflection for Acts 2: 24-28; talks about the aftermath of the resurrection and says something bold: death didn't just lose—it couldn't hold on. Jesus wasn't rescued from death like someone pulled from deep water at the last second; He broke death's grip from the inside out. Peter describes it almost like death had Jesus in chains, and then those chains snapped—because it was impossible for death to keep Him. Peter then quotes David from the Psalms: "I saw the Lord always before my face"... The heartbeat of that passage is not just victory over the grave, but closeness—God present, God near, God steady when everything else shakes.

The high priest, Ananias, commanded those who stood by him to strike him on the mouth. Then Paul said to him, "God will strike you, you whitewashed wall! Do you sit to judge me according to the law, and command me to be struck contrary to the law?" Those who stood by said, "Do you malign God's high priest?" Paul said, "I didn't know, brothers, that he was high priest. For it is written, 'You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people.'" But when Paul perceived that the one part were Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, "Men and brothers, I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees. Concerning the hope and resurrection of the dead I am being judged!"

Reflection for Acts 28: 2-6 - Paul quotes Scripture about not speaking evil of a ruler. That moment matters: Paul is bold, but he's not above correction. He doesn't double down to protect his ego. He adjusts. Then Paul does something strategically brilliant: he recognizes the room is divided between Sadducees and Pharisees, and he centers the case on the resurrection. It's not just a clever courtroom move (though it is that). It's also Paul refusing to let the real issue get buried under insults, power plays, and religious politics. He drags the conversation back to the fault line that truly matters: Does God raise the dead? If resurrection is true, it changes everything—authority, justice, hope, suffering, even death.

Reflection for Acts 24:13-17 - Paul mentions he came to bring help—alms for the poor—and to present offerings. In other words, while people were accusing him of causing trouble, he was literally trying to do good. That's another punch of conviction: sometimes your faithfulness won't protect you from being misunderstood. You can be doing the right thing and still get labeled wrong. Paul doesn't let that bitterness take over. He stays steady. This passage pushes me to ask: What am I building my life on when I'm pressured? Do I scramble to protect myself, or do I lean harder into conscience, truth, and the long view of God's justice?

Reflection for Acts 26: 5-8 - Paul expresses how serious he was about Judaism—so serious that he became a Pharisee, the strictest stream of his faith. Paul isn't saying, "I used to be a bad guy." He's saying, "I used to be sincerely devoted." That's important because it shows that being passionate or disciplined doesn't automatically mean you're right. Sincerity is not the same as truth. Paul is on trial because of hope—the hope rooted in God's promise to Israel, fulfilled in the resurrection.

On the third day, they threw out the ship's tackle with their own hands. When neither sun nor stars shone on us for many days, and no small storm pressed on us, all hope that we would be saved was now taken away. Now I exhort you to cheer up, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship. For there stood by me this night an angel, belonging to the God whose I am and whom I serve, Reflection on Acts 27: 19-23 By day three, they're throwing cargo overboard. They're surrendering the very tools that make the ship work. That's what desperation looks like: cutting away things you normally depend on just to survive another hour. They went a long time without seeing the sun or stars. In the ancient world, that meant no navigation—no way to orient themselves, no way to measure progress, no reliable sense of direction. It's a perfect picture of what fear does: it doesn't only threaten your safety; it steals your bearings. You don't just feel in danger—you feel lost.

It happened that after three days, Paul called together those who were the leaders of the Jews. When they had come together, he said to them, "I, brothers, though I had done nothing against the people, or the customs of our fathers, was delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans, who, when they had examined me, desired to set me free, because there was no cause of death in me. But when the Jews spoke against it, I was constrained to appeal to Caesar, not that I had anything about which to accuse my nation. For this cause, therefore, I asked to see you and to speak with you. For because of the hope of Israel, I am bound with this chain."

Reflection for Acts 28: 17-20 -There's something deeply practical here: Paul models how to speak truth without being toxic. He's clear about injustice ("I was handed over"), clear about pressure ("I was forced to appeal"), but he's also careful not to turn it into bitterness or a smear campaign. He speaks with clarity without hatred. This passage also challenges how we interpret "open doors." Paul is in Rome, yes—but not in the way he probably would've planned. God's purpose is not always packaged as comfort. Sometimes "calling" looks like limitation, unfairness, and having to keep showing up anyway.

Reflection for 1Peter 1:2-5 -Hope to an inheritance that can't be ruined: imperishable. Most of what we lean on is perishable: health changes, money fluctuates, people disappoint, plans collapse. Peter isn't saying those things don't matter; he's saying they can't be your foundation. Your deepest security is stored somewhere storms can't touch. Then he adds that not only is the inheritance kept for you, but you are also being guarded by God's power through faith for salvation to be revealed. That's hope with two locks on the door. God is protecting the promise and the person. Even when your faith feels small, the security isn't mainly in your grip on God; it's in God's grip on you.

Reflection for 1Peter 1:12-15 - Hope doesn't thrive in a foggy mind. Peter calls for clarity and readiness. He says to be "sober-minded," meaning steady and controlled, not intoxicated by panic, pleasure, outrage, or distraction. A lot of our hope leaks out because our minds are constantly being pulled in a thousand directions. Set your hope fully on Jesus. That's challenging because we tend to spread our hope around: a little in God, a little in money, a little in people, a little in our ability to manage everything. Peter isn't trying to restrict us; he's trying to stabilize us. Divided hope creates anxious living. Focused hope creates anchored living.

Reflection for 1 Peter 1:19-23: This connects to Isaiah 53: "Precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without blemish or spot" (Isaiah 53:7), where the suffering servant is led like a lamb to the slaughter. Here, Jesus is described like a spotless lamb, which clearly resonates with Exodus 12:5, the passover lamb that had to be without blemish. Also, Peter quotes from Isaiah 40, about grass withering but the word of God enduring forever. Our Salvation is not casual; it was planned in the heart of God. Therefore, our hope is anchored in the finished work of Christ

Reflection for 1Peter 3:3-6 - Peter contrasts “external adornment” (hair, jewelry, clothing) with a gentle, quiet spirit that God calls precious. He’s not saying outward appearance is sinful or that someone should never dress nicely. He’s saying outward things are limited: they can’t carry the weight of identity or worth. They can’t protect you from fear. The “gentle and quiet spirit” also gets misunderstood. It is not weak, silent, or passive. In the Bible, “gentle” describes Jesus’s strength. It’s the power to respond without being driven by panic, ego, or the need to win. “Quiet” is an inner steadiness that doesn’t need constant validation or conflict. It’s a calm center.

But even if you should suffer for righteousness' sake, you are blessed. "Don't fear what they fear, neither be troubled." But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts; and always be ready to give an answer to everyone who asks you a reason concerning the hope that is in you, with humility and fear: having a good conscience; that, while you are spoken against as evildoers, they may be disappointed who curse your good way of life in Christ. For it is better, if it is God's will, that you suffer for doing well than for doing evil.

Reflection for 1 Peter 3:14-17 Peter teaches a kind of courage that doesn't come from winning; it comes from being anchored. You might suffer even when you're doing the right thing. That's important because many of us (quietly) expect obedience to produce smooth outcomes. Then he says, "You are blessed." Not because pain is good, but because God values faithfulness, and your life is still under His care. Do not fear but honor Christ as Lord. Peter isn't saying "don't feel afraid." He's saying, Don't let fear sit on the throne. The practical move is worship: re-center your heart on Christ's authority. Fear shrinks when something greater becomes more real.

Reflection for 1 Peter 4:12-14: Don't be astonished. In other words, hardship isn't automatically a sign you took a wrong turn. Sometimes it's exactly what faithfulness looks like in a world that resists God. That's a needed correction for the way many of us think: if things get hard, we assume God is displeased, distant, or that we "missed His will." Peter says the opposite can be true—difficulty can be part of the path, not proof you're off it. He continues with: rejoice insofar as you share in Christ's sufferings. That doesn't mean pretend pain feels good. It means recognizing what suffering can mean when it comes because you're walking with Jesus.

Reflection for 1 Peter 5:5-8: Peter offers a survival kit for the soul: humility, trust, and alertness. He starts with humility. God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble. That's not Peter trying to insult anyone. It's a warning and a promise. Pride is not just a personality quirk; it's a posture of self-sufficiency. God loves us too much to leave us there. Humility is where grace lands. Then "Cast all your anxiety on Him because He cares for you." What's the connection between anxiety and the prowling lion? Anxiety can make us frantic and exhausted—easy targets. Humility and trust don't just make you "nice"; they make you harder to devour.

Reflection for 1 Peter 5:9-13: To break the lie of isolation, “It’s only me. I’m the exception.” Paul explains that Saints are experiencing the same kinds of sufferings throughout the world. Suffering becomes heavier when you feel alone in it. He continues to say, after you have suffered a little while, the God of all grace “will himself restore you and make you strong, firm and steadfast.” “A little while” doesn’t always feel little when you’re in it—but Peter is comparing it to eternity. God comforts you; He restores you. He makes you stronger, because he meets you in it and rebuilds you. Knowing this truth, all that is left is to worship him, “To him be the power for ever and ever.”

Change fueled by shame burns out. Change fueled by grace lasts. Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men. For you see your calling, brothers, that not many are wise according to the flesh, not many mighty, and not many noble; but God chose the foolish things of the world that he might put to shame those who are wise. God chose the weak things of the world, that he might put to shame the things that are strong; and God chose the lowly things of the world, and the things that are despised, and the things that are not, that he might bring to nothing the things that are: that no flesh should boast before God.

Reflection for 1Corinthians 1:25-29 - God chose what the world calls foolish, weak, and low so that no one can brag in His presence. That can sting a little, because we all want something in us to be the reason we're chosen. But Paul says God's grace is designed to kill that kind of pride at the root. If God builds His kingdom through "the unimpressive," then the spotlight stays where it belongs—on Him, not on us. There's also a huge comfort here. If you've ever felt overlooked, like you don't "measure up," Paul is saying: God is not waiting for you to become impressive before He uses you.

For no one can lay any other foundation than that which has been laid, which is Jesus Christ. But if anyone builds on the foundation with gold, silver, costly stones, wood, hay, or stubble, each man's work will be revealed. For the Day will declare it, because it is revealed in fire; and the fire itself will test what sort of work each man's work is. If any man's work remains that he built on it, he will receive a reward. If any man's work is burned, he will suffer loss, but he himself will be saved, but as through fire.

Reflection for 1 Corinthians 3:11-15 - Paul says the foundation is Jesus Christ. You don't build a life, a ministry, a family, on your personality, your success, or your pain. Everything that lasts sits on Christ. So the question isn't "Do I have a foundation?"—it's "What am I building on it?". Then comes "the Day" when fire will test the quality of each person's work. Fire shows what is solid and what is mostly appearance. Here's where hope shows up: Paul says if what someone built survives, they receive a reward. If it burns up, they suffer loss—but they themselves will be saved. God is not eager to disqualify His people. God is purifying your life so you don't waste it.

You are already filled. You have already become rich. You have come to reign without us. Yes, and I wish that you did reign, that we also might reign with you. For, I think that God has displayed us, the apostles, last of all, like men sentenced to death. For we are made a spectacle to the world, both to angels and men. We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ. We are weak, but you are strong. You have honor, but we have dishonor. Even to this present hour we hunger, thirst, are naked, are beaten, and have no certain dwelling place. We toil, working with our own hands. When people curse us, we bless. Being persecuted, we endure.

Reflection for 1 Corinthians 4:8-12 -The apostles' reality for following Jesus: they've been made a spectacle, "fools for Christ," weak, dishonored, hungry, poorly clothed, beaten, homeless, working with their own hands. It's a hard list to read because it dismantles the idea that faith guarantees a clean, upward trajectory. Paul's point isn't that suffering is automatically holy. His point is: the gospel often puts you at odds with the world's definition of winning. "When people curse us, we bless. Being persecuted, we endure." That's not a weakness. It's the strength of someone who doesn't need to defend their ego because their identity is anchored in Christ.

Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God. Let each man stay in that calling in which he was called. Were you called a bondservant? Don't let that bother you; if you get an opportunity to be free, use it. Reflection for 1 Corinthians 7:19-24 -Paul repeats the same idea in different ways: “don’t ever change anything.” He’s not forbidding growth, career moves, marriage, education, or seeking freedom. He’s correcting the belief that “I can’t truly serve God unless my situation changes.” He says: If you were called while enslaved, don’t let that define your worth—because in the Lord, you’re actually free. If you were called while free, don’t get proud—because you’re still Christ’s servant. Either way, your deepest identity is not your social position; it’s your relationship to Jesus. “You were bought with a price.” That ties this section to hope. Reflection for 1 Corinthians 15: 1-4 -Christ died for our sins. He was buried. He was raised on the third day. All of it, “according to the Scriptures.” That sequence matters. “Died for our sins” means the cross was a purposeful rescue. Your biggest problem is sin; separation from God. And Christ dealt with it directly. “He was buried.” Christianity is built on a real death. “He was raised” is the explosion of hope. The resurrection is God’s declaration that Jesus is Lord, that the payment for sin was accepted, and that death doesn’t get the final word. “According to the Scriptures,” means this wasn’t random. God wasn’t improvising. It is the fulfillment of a long-running promise.

But if there is no resurrection of the dead, neither has Christ been raised. If Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain, and your faith also is in vain. Yes, we are found false witnesses of God, because we testified about God that he raised up Christ, whom he didn't raise up, if it is so that the dead are not raised. For if the dead aren't raised, neither has Christ been raised. If Christ has not been raised, your faith is vain; you are still in your sins. Then they also who are fallen asleep in Christ have perished. If we have only hoped in Christ in this life, we are of all men most pitiable.

Reflection for 1 Corinthians 15:13-19—Paul’s logic is blunt: If there’s no resurrection of the dead, then Christ wasn’t raised. If Christ wasn’t raised, then preaching is empty and faith is empty. Worse—apostles are false witnesses, sin is still undefeated, the dead in Christ are lost, and Christians are the most pitiful people on earth because they’ve staked everything on a lie. That might feel intense, but it’s actually hopeful—because it tells you Christianity isn’t asking you to believe in vague inspiration. It’s claiming God acted in history. Paul is basically saying: Don’t soften this. Don’t shrink it. If Jesus didn’t rise, walk away. But if He did... then everything changes.

For since death came by man, the resurrection of the dead also came by man. For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ all will be made alive. But each in his own order: Christ the first fruits, then those who are Christ's, at his coming. For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. The last enemy that will be abolished is death. For, "He put all things in subjection under his feet." Reflection for 1 Corinthians 15:21-27: Adam represents humanity's fall -sin and death entering the world. Christ represents God's rescue. Paul says the problem is deep and universal, and so is the solution. Christ is raised first, then those who belong to Him when He comes, then "the end," when Christ delivers the kingdom to the Father. History isn't random chaos—it's moving toward a destination. The destination isn't just "souls go to heaven"; it's a kingdom fully set right, where every opposing power is defeated. That's the heart of hope: Christ's victory is not partial. It's not "spiritual only." It's total authority moving toward total restoration.

But someone will say, "How are the dead raised?" and, "With what kind of body do they come?" You foolish one, that which you yourself sow is not made alive unless it dies. That which you sow, you don't sow the body that will be, but a bare grain, maybe of wheat, or of some other kind. But God gives it a body even as it pleased him, and to each seed a body of its own. All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, another flesh of animals, another of fish, and another of birds. There are also celestial bodies and terrestrial bodies, but the glory of the celestial differs from that of the terrestrial.

However that which is spiritual isn't first, but that which is natural, then that which is spiritual. The first man is of the earth, made of dust. The second man is the Lord from heaven. As is the one made of dust, such are those who are also made of dust; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly. As we have borne the image of those made of dust, let's also bear the image of the heavenly. Now I say this, brothers, that flesh and blood can't inherit the Kingdom of God; neither does corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I tell you a mystery. We will not all sleep, but we will all be changed,

Reflection for 1 Corinthians 15: 46-51 Hopelessness about the body: When you feel limited—aging, sickness, anxiety, weakness—Paul says those limits are real, but temporary. The “perishable” is not your destiny. Hopelessness about the future: When the world feels unstable, Paul points to a fixed end: God is moving history toward a moment of change that cannot be undone. God’s final kingdom isn’t just this world with a fresh coat of paint. It requires transformation, not mere improvement. That’s actually good news: it means your ultimate hope isn’t “hang on and try to maintain.” It’s “God will change what cannot last into something that can.”

1 Corinthians 15:46,47,48,49,50,51

A Note of Thanks

Above all, we give thanks to God, the Author of every good word, the Giver of every good gift, and the One whose truth anchors us when everything else shifts. This book exists because He does.

We are grateful for our mother, Elizabeth, whose love for Scripture planted a seed in us that grew into these pages. We hope she would have loved this book. We believe she does.

To everyone who has read these puzzles, prayed over these verses, and lingered in the Word a little longer because of this devotional, thank you. You are exactly who we made this for.

If this book blessed you, we would be deeply grateful if you shared it with someone you love. A friend, a parent, a neighbor, anyone whose heart could use a little more hope and a little less fear.

If you have a moment, leaving a review on Amazon helps others find this book and means more to us than you know.

This is the first volume in what we hope will be a long series. We are already working on the next one. Stay anchored.

With gratitude and grace,
Payton & Gloria Baldrige
